

JACK A. CARTER B.A., CHRP

During his career Jack Carter has played major roles within Fortune 500 companies, providing expertise and counsel to these organizations and also to the development and growth of smaller owner entrepreneur ventures. He has also played a major leadership and mentor role to all levels of management and assisted many individuals and organization to achieve their personal career and business goals.

Working with senior management Jack has been successful in breaking down silos to ensure corporate performance and assisting leaders with the development of meaningful objectives and the enhancement of team productivity and internal communication.

COACHING SUCCESS STORIES

People Development – Jack has provided functional coaching to individual executives within a variety of industries to enhance effectiveness and developed practical succession and creative recruitment programs in line with the strategic short and long term business plan. He has coached and developed director level managerial staff to move forward and become effective leaders at the strategic VP level.

Team Development – Through training, counsel and mentoring, Jack transformed a dysfunctional manufacturing management group with poor managerial skills into an award-winning, productive and highly motivated management team.

Team Development – Jack is experienced in defining and building functional and effective management teams within high growth start-up, merger and acquisition environments.

Industry Experience

- Consumer Packaged Goods
- Pharmaceutical and Medical Products
- Private Health Care Services
- Heavy Equipment Manufacturing
- Aerospace Manufacturing
- Municipal Hydro Utility
- Store Fixtures and Millwork

Functional Experience

- General Management
- Human Resources
- Operations
- Information Technology
- Manufacturing
- Risk Management
- Facilities Planning